

In inquiring into the methods of other men. It was believed early today that the McNamara might be removed to San Quentin penitentiary tonight. Sheriff Hamilton has refused to say anything on the subject, declaring that the brothers were being kept in Los Angeles at the pleasure of the federal grand jury, but it was thought that after their first appearance before the inquisitorial body, expected today, the federal authorities would be satisfied and the prisoners removed.

Look to McNamagal.
The brothers have been advised by counsel as to their rights, and the attorneys intimated that the probe of the government would gain nothing for them at this stage beyond facts already known. Special Prosecutor Lawler and his assistants, including John Mitchell and Edward G. McManis, are looking for information upon which possible indictments may be found.
The interest of the local angle of the federal inquiry is not fully known, but it is assumed that the Indianapolis investigation is the center of the government's scheme of inquiry, to which the Los Angeles investigation is as yet subordinate.

UNIONS MUST KICK OUT BAD MEN, SAYS BURNS

Declares Every Dynamiting Case Since 1906 May Be Traced to McNamaras.

NEW YORK, December 7.—William J. Burns, the detective who ran down the McNamaras, arrived in New York today to consult with Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, which retained him to investigate more than one hundred dynamite outbreaks throughout the country.
"I have come to New York," said Burns, "to look into certain dynamitings in this city for which the McNamaras and that gang are responsible. More than this I cannot say at this time, but every dynamiting which occurred since 1906 may be traced directly or indirectly to the McNamaras and the men behind them."
Disavowing any enmity toward organized labor, and declaring that a much greater enemy is John Mitchell and other leaders who have stood behind him and my own, Mr. Burns said that "if unionism is to prevail, it must be free from the influence of the corrupt and dishonest leaders and the corrupt machine which is dragging it down today."

Blow to Socialism.
Mr. Burns continued: "The turn the McNamara case has taken has been the greatest blow to socialism in the history of this country, and although I have received all sorts of threatening letters, I believe in no, except perhaps a fanatic, would attempt my life. They are too cowardly of their own necks."
Burns said that he did not expect any further confession from the McNamaras, but he was inclined to think that now they have played their last card, and that the only union men guilty of dynamiting, he said, "There are others, but to say who would be obviously unwise."
Burns will return to Philadelphia tomorrow, where he has several prominent friends, and from there he will probably go to Boston.

ACTIVE IN McNAMARA CASE.

Detective Brown, Formerly of Washington, Is Highly Commended.

Detective Samuel L. Brown, formerly a member of the local police headquarters detective corps, who has gained prominence because of his connection with the McNamara dynamite case in Los Angeles, has received hearty commendations and congratulations because of the valuable work he did in the case. His friends in this city learned of the matter through a telegram received this morning by his brother, Mounted Policeman Philip Brown of the ninth precinct.
The message received by the brother reads: "The grand jury has sent me letters of commendation and congratulation giving me credit of the conviction and pleas of guilty."
Detective Brown has publicly given me the credit of making the McNamaras plead guilty.
The supervisors have publicly commended me for securing the legal evidence. I have received letters of congratulation on my work in the big dynamite case."

FOR GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA.

Democrats Voting in Primary on Successor to Hoke Smith.

ATLANTA, December 7.—Democratic voters of Georgia today are voting in a primary to choose a candidate for governor to succeed Hoke Smith, recently elected to the United States Senate.
There are three candidates—Joseph M. Brown, former governor who was defeated by Smith for re-election; Judge Richard R. Russell of the Georgia court of appeals, and Pope Brown, former state treasurer.
The contest has resolved itself around the liquor question. Joseph Brown without to submit all proposed liquor legislation to the voters; Russell stands for local option and Pope Brown for state-wide prohibition.
The election has been set for January 9.

MAKING GOOD ROADS.

Business Men and Farmers Pledge Shovel and Pick.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., December 7.—One hundred business men of this town made a practical demonstration for good roads when they left their offices and homes and put in a day with shovels and picks yesterday. Assisted by their clerks and by farmers who turned out with their hired men, they began the improvement of several highways of the county. At the end of the day's toil 100 miles of newly graded roads stood to their credit.

COMING TAFT'S WAY

President's Republican Callers Bring Him Cheering News.

OKLAHOMA VOTE SOLID

Representative McGuire Promises Delegation and the State for Him.

OREGON ALSO ON THE LIST

Representative Humphreys Among Today's Rainbow Callers—Primaries in the South.

President Taft is hearing much about politics these days. He has few callers who do not venture suggestions or make prophecies. Right now the news is coming his way mostly fast. Things look good. Here and there something is happening to block the movement of the Taft presidential nomination train, but the train dispatchers all along the line convey the same sort of information—that the delays will be few and the arrival of the express about on time.
Today was no exception to what has been going on for several days. Visitors of the straight-out republican complexion gave the President good news. Representative McGuire of Oklahoma was one of these. Mr. McGuire is not given to bright prophecies, unless conditions warrant. "I do not mind saying, and I believe I know what I am talking about," said Mr. McGuire, "that President Taft will have the solid delegation from Oklahoma to the national convention, that will be in line, and that the President will carry the state in November. Ordinarily, it would be expected that the state would be democratic, but the leaders there are in a death struggle. Haskell and his faction are being opposed by the other group who are strong within the party. The result is the worst sort of a prospect for the Oklahoma democrats and we will carry the state."

No Opposition in Sight.
"Oklahoma, since it has been a territory or a state, has never been more unanimous for a man than it is for the renomination of President Taft. The people believe in him, republicans and thousands of democrats. There is no opposition to him in sight, and opposition, if attempted, will be ineffective."
Representative Humphreys of Washington, from the state of Senator Poinsett, who is out for La Follette, told the President that he would get the delegation from that state.
There were prominent democratic visitors during the day, too. They didn't say anything derogatory to President Taft, but two of them at least had interesting information as to what is to place in their respective states. Senator Williams of Mississippi and Representative Taylor of Alabama both said that steps are being taken by the democratic state committees of their respective states to hold presidential preference primaries.
"In my state," said Senator Williams, "I think there will be a primary that will let every democrat express his choice for the democratic candidate by name. Personally, I am for Woodrow Wilson, but I state will vote. It may be necessary to hold two primaries to demonstrate what candidate gets a majority of the votes. The delegates chosen by the state convention would be instructed to follow the wishes of the people."

ALABAMA FOR UNDERWOOD.

"We are nearly unanimous for Underwood for Governor in Alabama," said Representative Taylor, "but the state committee will meet next week, and will probably arrange a presidential preference primary so that the voters may vote by name for their choice. Underwood."

SPLIT ON IMMIGRATION.

Senate Committee Will Meet to Discuss Plan of Procedure.
A division of opinion among the members of the Senate committee on immigration will be thrashed out at a meeting held next Tuesday, Senator Lodge, the chairman, called a meeting for today to take up the discussion, but a quorum was not present. It was the opinion of those who did go to the committee that an early meeting should be held.
Whether an attempt shall be made at the present session of Congress to put through a general revision of the immigration laws or efforts shall be directed only to putting things in order regarded as imperative at this time, is the dispute. Senator Dillingham, who was the chairman of the immigration commission which spent several years in investigating the immigration question, and which has presented a report covering about forty-five volumes, has introduced a bill for the general revision of the laws regulating aliens coming to and residing in the United States. It is a comprehensive measure, representing the conclusion of the commission.
Some members of the committee have suggested that the features of the present law be retained, and that only be taken up in several separate bills should press for the imperative reforms at this time, and that the others be postponed. There is a sentiment among other members against piecemeal legislation.
The Dillingham bill as a whole will be up for consideration before the committee Tuesday.

H. C. Smith Dies at Adrian, Mich.

ADRIAN, Mich., December 7.—Former Representative Henry C. Smith died at his home here today. He was stricken with pneumonia one week ago. He was a native of New York state and was fifty-five years old. He represented the second Michigan district in the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses.

F.M. RYAN, PRESIDENT. INTERNATIONAL STRUCTURAL IRON WORKERS ASSOCIATION.

TAFT FOR ARBITRATION TREATY WITH GERMANY

Alleged Interview With President Published in Berlin Newspaper.

Mayor Gaynor Drops In.
Mayor Gaynor of New York paid his respects to President Taft. He is in Washington with some of his subordinates, officials to take up with department heads matters in which the city of New York is interested. The visitors saw Secretary Meyer about the talk of selling the Brooklyn navy yard to the city of New York. The judges of the Court of Commerce made a call of respect upon the President.
Elliott Northcott of West Virginia, American minister to Nicaragua, called to pay his respects to the President. Northcott is now in this country on leave of absence, and is anxious to obtain a transfer from his present post at Managua, where he has served for about a year. The climate at Managua does not agree with his health.
At present there are only two vacancies in the diplomatic service. One of these is ambassador to Brazil, which was vacated several days ago by the death of Irving E. Dudley, and the other is minister to Venezuela, which was made by the transfer of John W. Garrett of Maryland from Caracas to Buenos Aires to become minister to Argentina.

PAUPER FINDS $10,000 IN STOCK OF ARTIFICIAL LIMB.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., December 7.—An old wooden leg may not be much of a legacy, but when it contains ten thousand dollars Jacob Randall, a pauper at the poor farm of Canadian county, thinks it is worth having. The leg was given to him by Alexander F. Hamilton, a supposed pauper at the farm, just before he died a few days ago. Last night Randall discovered the contents of money in the stock of the artificial limb. If Hamilton had relatives they are not known here.

GAS OVERCOMES WORKMAN.

Taken From Trench by Fellow-Employees and Soon Resuscitated.
Four employees of the Washington Gas Light Company, working in a trench at Takoma Park this afternoon, were overcome by escaping gas while trying to lay a new gas main. The men were taken from the trench by fellow workmen and resuscitated by a physician near at hand.
The men are Patrick Murphy, 942 25th street northwest, John Price, 37 K street northwest, John Kraft, 462 E street northwest, and Patrick Murphy, 321 S street northwest.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED SPY.

Germans Believe He Tried to Secure Valuable Naval Secrets.
LEIPZIG, Saxony, December 7.—The trial of the English ship broker, Max Schultz, and his four German associates, who were arrested at Hamburg March 18 on a charge of espionage, began here today before the imperial court.
Max Schultz is accused of having used his profession as a cover for corrupting shipyard workers and for obtaining naval secrets. He was kept under close observation for a considerable time by government detectives while passing between Hamburg and Bremen, where at the time under warships of different types were under construction.
It is said that the incriminating material found in his possession at the time of his arrest was not of a grave character, but it is believed that he succeeded in communicating a number of documents to the people by whom he was employed. He is regarded by the naval authorities as a most dangerous espionage agent. The proceedings are taking place in secret.

FIGHT FOR ST. LOUIS

Missourians Going After Republican Convention.

QUIET WORK GOING ON

National Committee Will Meet Here Tuesday.

WILL NOT ELECT CHAIRMAN

Cutting Southern Representation and Primaries Will Be Considered.

Those who have thought that the republican national convention to be held next summer, at which candidates for President and Vice President will be nominated, would go to Chicago by default, are another guess coming.
Much quiet work is now going on in Washington to have St. Louis chosen as the convention city, and the backers of the Missouri metropolis will be here in good numbers by the end of the week to battle incoming members of the republican national committee and try to persuade them that St. Louis is the logical point next year.

The meeting of the republican national committee, at which this question is to be decided, is scheduled to be held in Washington next Tuesday. For some months there has been little talk of the convention city, because Chicago seemed to be the only city putting forth any effort to get the gathering. But within the last few days members of the Senate and House who are on the national committee have been tested as to their preference. Although the members of St. Louis are not making any claims of a majority of the committee, they are asserting that the majority is not yet pledged, and that it can be lined up for them.
Gov. Hadley of Missouri is taking an active part in the movement in behalf of St. Louis, and he and a large group of Missouri politicians have begun their fight in Washington.
Will Not Elect Chairman.
It is generally conceded that the national committee will make no effort to name the chairman who is to conduct the republican campaign next fall at next week's session. Quiet work has gone on, and it is understood that President Taft is opposed to the selection of the chairman at this time, he taking the position that the nominee of the convention should be left free to name his chairman and, in the event he is not nominated, he does not want to embarrass the one.

But outside of the question of fixing the time and the place for the convention, Taft is understood to be in favor of the selection of the chairman. One is the old, old proposition to cut down the southern representation on the national convention. Some of the progressives who think the administration can exercise too much power, particularly in the south, are in favor of the change, and they may get some recruits from the states along the Canadian border.

THE PRIMARIES PROPOSITION.

Another proposition to come up will be the demand of the progressives, formally made through Senator Bourke, the president of the National Progressive Republican League, that the national committee recommend the holding of presidential preference primaries throughout the country for the selection of men to head the national ticket.

Those who keep in touch with politics claim to see little chance for that proposal to get far. They point out that there have been few changes in the personnel of the national committee since the campaign of 1908 under Chairman Frank Hitchcock, and they argue that the majority, who were with the republican regulars at that time, will remain steadfast again against the progressive proposals. It is claimed that about thirty-five members will be found standing together.

Of course it is conceded, however, that the gathering of the republican clans from the several states will be the occasion for an abundance of gossip as to the outcome of next summer's convention, and some lines on the standings of President Taft and Senator La Follette at the present time may be obtainable.

LAYS BLAME ON STATES.

Speaker at Irrigation Congress Says They Retard Work.
CHICAGO, December 7.—Closer co-operation by the state legislatures with the federal government in promoting irrigation was urged by Samuel Fortier, chief of irrigation, in investigation of the Department of Agriculture, before the nineteenth annual session of the National Irrigation Congress today. The speaker declared that in many western states the projects were being retarded because of lack of necessary legislation by the states. Other speakers scheduled before the congress were George H. Hutton of California and Dr. W. J. McGee, expert of soils of the Department of Agriculture.
It is planned formally to organize tonight a national drainage congress, which will devote itself to urging the federal government to do for the swamp lands what it has done for arid lands.
